FINAL PHASES OF BATTLE FOR EUROPE APPARENT AS REMAINS OF ONE GREAT GERMAN ARMY POURS THROUGH THE NARROWING BERLIN-DRESDEN GAP INTO THE ALPS

Gap Less Than 87 Miles

By International News Service

The final phases of the battle for Europe were becoming apparent today as the remains of the one great German army were reported to be pouring southward through the narrowing Berlin-Dresden gap into the Bavarian Alps.

Front dispatches said the gap was less than 87 miles wide. But Berlin reported a surging advance of the First Ukrainian Army some 45 miles westward from the Niesse river. If this advance is confirmed it will mean that Russian troops are separated from the U. S. First Army along the Mulde river by approximately 40 miles.

Moreover they would be only some 60 miles from the U. S. Third Army fighting in the Chemnitz sector.

However, Moscow again pointedly omitted any reference to the eastern front in the vicinity of Berlin. The Germans reported that advanced elements of the First White Russian Army had appeared to within 17 miles of sprawling "Greater Berlin."

Surprise A Croydon Bride
At Delightful Shower

CROYDON, Apr. 19.—A surprise miscellaneous shower was given Saturday evening by Mrs. Philip C. Ahler, 5th avenue, in honor of Mrs. George S. Martin, Jr.

The living room was decorated in white with white wedding bells suspended from the light fixture. Strings from these were fastened to packages which were hidden throughout the house. Verses also pinned to streamers told the bride where to look for other gifts.

A buffet lunch was enjoyed. A beautifully decorated cake with tiny bride and groom on top, was cut by the bride. Mrs. Martin is the former Elizabeth Ann Tyler. Her husband, Cpl. George S. Martin, has left for overseas duty.

Those present: Mrs. John Kratz, Mrs. Dorothy Cherubini, Mrs. James E. Harris, Mrs. W. E. Harris, Mrs. Elwood Polk, Sr., Mrs. James Harkins, Mrs. Harry Pierce, Mrs. William Pryor, Mrs. Allan Kohler, Mrs. Edward Brenner, Mrs. James T. ALLIES NARROW NAZI 'WAIST'

PUSHING FORWARD RELENTLESSLY on both fronts, Allied armies continue to chop away German holdings and move toward a junction. Biggest news of the day was the Third Army drive (1) that resulted in the bisection of the Reich when our forces reached Czechoslovakia. The U. S. Ninth Army (2) expanded its bridgehead east of the Elbe and was still clearing Magdeburg, while First Army forces to the south fought through surrounded Leipzig (3). On the north end of the line the British Second Army hacked through the Lüneburg area (4) and headed for Hamburg. The French First Army (5) moved on Stuttgart. Red units hit in the Forst sector (6) as they drove for Brno (7). (International)

Strong Sneezers Has Strong Teeth

(By "The Stroller")

One Bristol business man has strong teeth. He is assured of that since an incident which occurred a few days ago.

Said localite, while working with two other men on the second floor of his place of business, commenced sneezing. On the second grand sneeze out flew his teeth—which we should have explained are false—and he executed a flying tackle to retrieve them. Out flew his brother's hands, also to no avail, and the arms of the third man commenced gyrations through the ether. But the "uppers" sped on their way, out the second floor doorway and crashed to the concrete below.

Picked up they were found to be as sound as ever, and back where they belonged they were soon doing duty on a war-time meal.

Pvt. Hardy To Be Released In Germany, Radio Reports

According to Mrs. Robert Hardy, Leaver street, friends advised her today that they had heard a radio broadcast which stated that her son, Pvt. William R. Hardy 19, would be released this morning at nine o'clock from a German prison camp.

Previously Hardy had been reported missing in action in France as of January 31st.

Mrs. Hardy has not received any official verification of the radio broadcast, but nevertheless is overjoyed at the news made public this morning, which it is presumed is authentic.

SOVIETS MAKE SWEEPING ADVANCES TOWARD BERLIN

Moscow—Sweeping Soviet advances toward Berlin enabling establishments of a bridgehead on the River Spree were reported in German broadcasts today.

The Soviet high command remained silent on progress of the Russian drive.

But Berlin admitted that "deep penetrations" had been made, placing the Soviets at a point three miles east of Muencheberg, 23 miles from the capital's outskirts.

Another enemy broadcast said that Wriezen, 32 miles from Berlin, had been captured. The Germans have evacuated their holdings on the eastern bank of the Oder near Frankfurt and have blown up the bridge, Berlin said.

Berlin reported Soviet capture of Forst and Seelow, both approximately 25 miles east of the German capital.

The Nazi agency DNB reported establishment of a Russian bridgehead across the River Spree at a point 12 miles from Cottbus, 70 miles southeast of Berlin. The Spree leads directly into Berlin and runs through the center of the capital.

Earlier German reports said the First Ukrainian Army had surged 45 miles west of the Niesse river, reaching the vicinity of Finsterwalde, some 40 miles from a junction with the U. S. First Army now fighting along the Mulde river.

Concerning the Niesse drive, DNB said: "A critical situation arose yesterday afternoon when a powerful Soviet armored force succeeded in piercing the main German lines north of Goerlitz."

GERMANS ADMIT BATTLE OF RUHR HAS ENDED

London—The German high command admitted today that the Battle of the Ruhr has ended. The communique also declared that the Allies have launched an assault against the French coastal town of Dunkirk.

ANOTHER DAY

Strong indication of the great changes in national viewpoint concerning domestic American problems which are to be expected in the next few years was given in the frank words of President Truman in his first address to Congress.

Many appear to have missed the import of his message in regard to administrative policy, because of great interest in his attitude concerning war and the peace plans.

His strong pledge for vigorous prosecution of the war, with the army and navy leaders untrammelled from any interference on his part, has attracted much attention, as did his promise to seek a "just and lasting peace" through the agency of the San Francisco conference.

His words "no partial victory" and "the guilty must not go unpunished" were roundly applauded when delivered, and have received wide acclaim from the public.

In the main, and with some important modifications, these call for a direct continuance of President Roosevelt's policies in foreign affairs as President Truman understands those policies.

But in domestic matters, President Truman announced an about-face in White House policy which can only mean a drastic change in the direction of national affairs.

This occurred when he appealed, as had been expected, for the aid and cooperation of Congress—especially his former associates in the U. S. Senate.

"Only with your help," he told Congress, could he ever hope to complete the tasks laid upon his shoulders.

It has been quite a while since Congress has received any such appeal from a President.

Early in President Roosevelt's administration he served notice on Congress that he considered his election to be a mandate to the legislative branch to carry out his program to the letter.

Congress became, for a time, a "rubber stamp," accepting most of the President's suggestions as made and enacting them into law—on some occasions even when their very Constitutionality was questioned.

Flareups occurred—notably in the Supreme Court packing and reorganization bills. Gradually these became more numerous, but the White House insistence on its own program did not lessen. Repeatedly President Roosevelt went over Congress' head and appealed to the public for support—sometimes with and sometimes without success.

Twelve years of this struggle left deep scars, so that not even war-time conditions could produce full harmony. Notable insurrections occurred, many of the most bitter being led by Democratic instead of Republican members.

The present session of Congress is unusual in being controlled by a fusion majority consisting of "Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats" who joined forces to curb certain phases of the New Deal.

Deficit—finance, spending programs, unchecked bureaucracy, and left-wing experimenting, have been the special targets of this fusion, which has brought down on its head the tag of "unholy alliance" from various radical Democratic critics.

But Truman's appeal, which translates rather broadly into a promise to be guided by a majority sentiment in Congress, puts this group squarely in the saddle in the working out of national policy.

"What Can You Spare That They Can Wear?"

"The greatest service anyone can render to the Belgian population," writes Vicomtesse Du-Pare, "is to send clothing and undergarments of all kinds for men, women, and above all, children."

"For five years everyone has lived on the stocks existing at the time of the invasion. Neither cotton nor wool entered this country and the Germans stole all existing stocks from factories."

It is to meet this need of the Belgian war victims and for those of other war-ravaged lands that the United National Clothing Collection now is being conducted.

There is a United National Clothing Collection receiving depot in your neighborhood. See that your spare apparel is delivered there.

British 8th Army Drives Toward Vital Highway

Rome—The British Eighth Army drove to within 15 miles of the vital Italian highway and river junction of Ferrara today, storming through the heavily fortified Argenta Gap for gains of up to two miles. British tanks and infantry whipped northward between Boccaleone, which was captured, and the Fossa Sabbiosa Canal with such speed that many Nazi armored units and guns were captured intact. The British gains also placed the British within 18 miles of the Po river. Farther west the American Fifth Army rolled up the Bologna highway for two miles after capturing strategic Monte Adone and at last reports were within eight miles of Bologna itself.

Other American forces fighting east of the Pistoia-Bologna road captured Monte Del Frati at the climax of two days of savage fighting over difficult terrain. The American 92nd Infantry Division fighting northward near the Ligurian Sea made progress through the Serchio Valley despite a heavy and harassing artillery fire from the Nazi-held Punta Bianca promontory south of the partially flanked enemy naval base at La Spezia.

USES FOR PLANES

Some of the uses which will be found for airplanes after the war are to be found in requests which the War Production Board is filing away for reference when production controls are relaxed.

To date 350 such requests have been received. A pipeline company wants a plane for use in inspecting its route. A company with extensive cotton land in the South would like a plane to dust its cotton crop. Ranchers are asking for small craft equipped with machine guns to kill coyotes and other predatory animals. Lumber firms need planes to spot timber fires before they get out of control.

A physician with widely-scattered patients thinks he could make better time on wings. Several industrial executives seek planes to keep in personal touch with remote plants. Flying schools comprise the largest group of applicants. They want planes for use in teaching novices to fly.

Some day, in the not too distant future, the bans will be lifted, and plane factories will begin to fill these and similar orders.

WIDER HORIZONS

Americans have become acutely conscious in recent years that there is a science of nutrition. Spectacular if somewhat disquieting proof of this awareness is to be found in the unimpressive sales of vitamin pills. But there is other and more encouraging evidence in the growing demand for such food as milk, meat, eggs, fruits and fresh vegetables.

This trend is the result, of course, of important discoveries made in the field of nutrition. Through newspapers and magazines the public has learned that there is a direct connection between diet and health. Housewives have eagerly applied the knowledge made available and today the results can be seen on millions of tables.

Yet the science of nutrition is still new. What the investigators have discovered so far is merely a fraction of what remains to be studied. The striking results of recent research, as reported at the annual meeting of the Nutrition Foundation at New York City, clearly indicate that the door to important new knowledge is only beginning to open.

Thus studies at Harvard point to the conclusion that by bettering the diet of expectant mothers it will be possible to reduce the percentage of deformed children to a fraction of what it is today. Other research concerned with the fatty material within the liver has provided an important lead bearing on the convalescent treatment of large numbers of returning service men. There is new light on diabetes and on why fliers can stand high altitudes better when fortified with a meal rich in carbohydrates.

This is a science that bears directly on the well-being of every man, woman and child. It is heartening to know that its horizons are steadily widening.

When it is declared the Nazis are near the end of their rope, it is hoped this is not a figure of speech.

Garden Pest Fight Is Subject of Talk

Informing that one out of every 10 persons in the world is troubled with lice, the speaker recalled that typhus fever, which is carried by the common louse, caused more deaths among women and children in central Europe during World War I than were caused among men on the battle-field. "And today on and near the battle fronts, where people are thrown together in great numbers under adverse conditions, 'D. D. T.' has practically eliminated typhus."

Dr. Larson informed that insects are the most numerous of all animals—three-fourths of the million "animals" in the world being insects. Turning attention to the garden and the harm done there by insects, the speaker suggested methods of combating such, including use of certain insecticides. In speaking of the cut worm he said that such winters in the rubbish of the garden, in the spring appearing as a moth. "Now, in the evenings, by use of a flash-light they can be found eating the tender garden plants. This is the time to pluck them off, placing them in a can of kerosene or burning them. It is slow work, but effective." Paris green and bran, mixed with a little water, were listed as effective combatives for the cut worm.

Turning attention to the mosquito, the localite stated that there are from five to six millions of cases of malaria in the United States each year. "The government is arranging a program at present to treat 70 counties in the Southern States, spraying 'D. D. T.' in schools, sheds, barns, etc. The hope is to eliminate the mosquito and stamp out malaria. The huge number of cases of this disease will thus be stamped out and the time loss of workers will likewise be cut."

The Mexican bean beetle, the most important pest in this section, was given some attention. In combating this pest it is necessary to spray the under parts of the leaves as the beetle and its worm feed on the under side, the group was informed. The aphid can be controlled by early spraying and dusting it was mentioned.

Dr. Larson informed there are two methods by which insects feed, and the gardeners find themselves faced with the problem of combating the type that sucks and the type that chews. Thus, generally, there are found two types of insecticides.

The development down through the decades of insecticides was touching on, from the time of the early use of sulphur fumes, on to the discovery that soapy water was effective for fighting aphids. The first of the common insecticides discovered was Paris green, this being an accidental discovery by a man using green paint, some of the paint dropping on potato plants, it being soon noticed that the Colorado potato bug passed up these particular plants.

The attempts made from time to time to combat one insect with another insect were gone into, with one spectacularly successful case mentioned being that of a pest harming orange trees in California some years ago. The wide field of research which lies ahead in the fight against insect pests and diseases was mentioned by Dr. Larson. He added "There is no one material that will kill all bugs in the garden," he stating that the average gardener will however find that three main ones will kill most of the pests.

A helpful suggestion given was that garden rubbish and other breeding places be cleaned up periodically. Thorough discing was advocated as highly effective also.

The program and the serving of the refreshments were in charge of the men of the organization last evening. The speaker was introduced by Frank Binder, principal of the school. The refreshments were served to the women by Messrs. Larson and Binder, Ned Moyer, John A. A. Crowley, Howard Johnson, and Norman S. Straw.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Herbert Rongley, with minutes read by Miss Margaret Perry. The treasurer reported a balance of $204.82. Mrs. Roger S. Burns in reporting for the cafeteria funds, listed a balance of $369.17, with $250 of this amount, which had been loaned by the P. T. A., to be returned to that organization. Mrs. Louis Goll, Jr., was announced as chairman of the cafeteria party.

Mr. Binder announced that a demonstration of a sound-motion picture projector is to be given at the school in the near future, with delivery of a new machine about September. Mr. Larson, in reporting on the plan to plant a tree in memory of each former local school student who loses his life in the present war, stated that oak trees are being considered. Mrs. John Walker, Mrs. Ned Moyer and Mrs. Goll were named as members of the nominating committee; and Messrs. Straw and Moyer of the auditing committee.

Donations made included: $25 to the Hummelville Memorial Park fund; $10 to the Salvation Army; and $10 to the Red Cross. The maintenance committee chairman, Mr. Johnson, asked for volunteers to-night to aid in transporting lumber donated by Mrs. Burns for building of a closet in the cafeteria, also for men to aid in erection of the closet next Tuesday evening. The school board will aid it was announced by paying necessary expenses.

Mr. Crowley reported on the recent meeting of the Presidents' Council of this area. The discussion on possible establishment of playgrounds in the four boroughs and the township included was told of, with report made on a guest speaker who had suggested that borough councils and boards of education can jointly raise funds for recreational programs by tax levies. The playground sponsored at Langhorne by the Presidents' Council is to be enlarged. A joint meeting next month of the Presidents' council and the playground committee is arranged, with plans possibly made then for developing the program in all the districts. This meeting will be May 15th. On May 23rd at South Langhorne Fire Co. station a non-partisan voters' conference will be held. Mr. Crowley announced.

by tug-of-wars over countless issues—OPA, labor matters, postwar banking, the Mexican war treaty and a host of others—the new President's words can hardly be interpreted otherwise than as removing the White House pressure.

True, President Truman indorsed the "social aims" which his predecessor had enunciated—he could hardly have been expected to do anything else.

But the restrained and brief mention he made needs only to be contrasted with the extravagant "60,000,000 job" promises of the Wallace faction to show the very definite swing away from the extremes of the New Deal Leftists.

The old political adage that "position is ninety percent of politics" continues to contain much truth.

In turning to Congress for support, excellent as were the motives and proper as was the decision, President Truman nevertheless made a concession in fundamental political position which would not have occurred under President Roosevelt.

The effects may appear only slowly, a few at a time. In the course of months, however, and assuming that the decision is not reconsidered, the new position will greatly change both the doctrines and the personnel of the Administration.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

A CORNER to visit when you're gifting a smoker, or are one, is the Snellenburg Smoke Corner. There are many intriguing novelties besides just cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, pipes, etc. For example, there are very flat purse-lighters, for women, at only $1. They come in enamels of different colors. Very popular. They require very small amounts of fluid. Another "Corner" offering (I have one) are those cigarettes of clear, heavy glass, made up of three ashtrays. Decorators like them for the way they brilliantly reflect light. Pretty as pretty, and practical. Priced at only 29c. (1st fl.)

TREASURE THEM those furs of yours. Be as proud of them next year as you are now. This means good storage, such as you cannot give them at home. The Snellenburg store has its storage vaults right on the premises, where your furs will be guaranteed against fire, theft, and moths. The Snellenburg method of storing furs prevents their drying out. There is employed a stream of clean, cold, hydrated air at controlled temperature. You will be charged 2% of your own valuation, the minimum charge being $3 for coats, jackets, capes; $2 for scarfs, $3 for fur-trimmed cloth coats, suits, or men's overcoats. (2nd fl. Balcony)

SLEEP SOUNDLY, on clean, comfortable pillows. The Snellenburg Store has a nice assortment in its Bed-Coverings Dept. I noticed one kind of pillow in particular, one filled with 50% crushed duck feathers and 50% duck feathers. Plumps up lightly. Case is feather-proof blue and white striped duck. $4.19. (2nd fl.)

YOU OWE IT to the family to provide them with as much get-together equipment for play as possible. You need so little room in a garden, and no prepared court at all, to play badminton. Play six times and "you all" will become addicts. Begin with an inexpensive set, such as the Snellenburg Sporting Goods Dept. has provided for amateurs. These very inexpensive sets come from India. There are two, one sturdier than the other, but both efficient, priced at $5.95 and $7.95 respectively. Each consists of two rackets, a net, and one "bird." Make your own poles or buy them here at $1.95 each. (3rd fl.)

INVASION DANGER—now wait—from moths can be prevented at your house. Use the right moth-preventive and then put garments in a good little storage closet that you keep tightly shut. The Snellenburg Notions Dept. has a good collection of sturdy fibre closets, with reinforcements of wood. They can be kept "as is"—brown—or painted or cheerfully wall-papered. These double-doored closets measure 66 in. high, 29 in. wide, 20 in. deep. Each has a hat shelf, two shoe shelves. Well worth the price—$5.98. These closets make fine extra clothes closets just for every-day use, too. (1st fl.)

"NOCTURNE" BLANKETS are as delightful as their name. Soft and light to sleep under, they are woven of long-fibred, combed wools so that they are strong and even in texture. Used singly in summer or in combination with heavier blankets in winter. Nice two-inch rayon bindings. 72 x 90 in. Lovely colors. Rose, gold, white, eggshell, blue, green, etc. $8.95. (2nd fl.)

P.S. Shop at this friendly store—Market from 11th to 12th, thru to 1125-29 Chestnut St., Phila. Or order by mail. Or "phone free (3c. 10c and 15c out-of-town calls only). Clippings appreciated. Penna. number, ENTERPRISE 10160; New Jersey, WX-1150. Cheerio!

ROMANTIC MASQUERADE
by MARIE BLIZARD

SYNOPSIS

Daphne Willoughby Abruzzi, married when 17 and a widow at 25, returned to her home town after an absence of twelve years, eight of which were spent in Paris, London, and Naples. After her husband's death, she worked four years for Corinne Hollis, a New York decorator. Before the train reached North Wintridge, Daphne thought of the many fanciful letters she wrote to her friend, Kate Dennison, describing her life with no romantic Carlo, her musician husband, concert tours, villas, gay bohemian affairs. . . . She also thought of Alan Pembroke, a young architect, whom she'd met at Corinne's. Daphne was wearing his orchids. At the station she got a warm welcome from Kate Dennison and her husband, "Tommy," and went to their home. Daphne tells Kate that "Cousin Ella left me a house and a trust fund" of about $3,000 a year. Daphne declares that she has no intention of remarrying, but Kate is skeptical. Soon Daphne is busy renewing old acquaintances.

CHAPTER FOUR

It was a bunch of scarlet poppies, nodding from a bird's nest of a hat that first attracted Daphne's eye. Recognizing its wearer, she beamed.

"Let me say it first for once, Mrs. Gilson: You haven't changed a bit!"

Mrs. Gilson held Daphne's hand tightly for a moment. "You took the words out of my mouth. All your old friends have been telling me that, haven't they? And it's true."

"Thanks, dear. And I've had a busy week, seeing old friends. Everyone seems to know I'm back."

"Of course they do. That was such a nice piece in Tommy Dennison's paper. . . . I suppose you're coming to Minnie Fiske's tea this afternoon?"

Daphne said she hoped to drop in later, after she'd completed some household chores.

"I hear you're making a lot of changes. Of course, with a quarter of a million dollars—Mrs. Gilson didn't seem to notice Daphne's gasp—"you won't have too much trouble getting help, but we have few young men who aren't working in the war factories."

"I've got to hire someone to get the grounds in shape for a garden."

"If I hear of anyone, I'll let you know," Mrs. Gilson moved a little closer and dropped her voice. "Daphne, do you think this hat is too giddy for me?"

"I think it's just right."

"Well, Floss Huntley was saying the other day that we'll all be getting clothes-conscious with you in our midst, just back from Paris, so to speak."

Daphne smiled wryly. (The one dress she'd got in Paris was a present from a girl whose cousin, a dressmaker in Peoria, had sent it to her. It was wool, henna colored wool. It had been hot in Paris that summer, but she hadn't had anything else to wear when she got out of the hospital. She would never wear a russet shade again as long as she lived. The memory made her look at herself in a nearby store window mirror, to be reassured by her green shetland suit, her paler cashmere sweater.)

Then Mrs. Gilson said, "Good-bye, my dear. Do try to get to Minnie's for a cup of tea."

She went off with a final nod of her poppies.

"Hiya, Daphne! Nice day, ain't it?" Roy Gates, loading a grocery truck, called to her.

"Perfect!"

Everything was perfect. Away for twelve years in places where her passing had left no imprint, she'd come home to find she was not forgotten, hailed by grocery boy and judge's wife alike.

Nothing much was changed. Familiar faces, a little heavier, or a little thinner, looked not much older to her. And the town was almost the same. There were a few new stores, but all the old ones were still there.

It was only at the North End, far from the factory sites, that she found some notable changes. Out there the Dennisons had built a house in the colony of garden plots, rolling lawns, and new homes, their English stucco and French provincial brick mingled with Cape Cod saltboxes, lending a fashionable Westchester effect.

"Our houses are modern," Kate had said, "but we'll always be small-town people. We're not casual about cocktails. We don't gamble with large sums of money, or with our happiness. Most of us have one maid, and the Turners, who own the Malleable Iron Works, are the only people who have a butler."

"By the way, the Turner girl has a crush on you, Daphne. She'll probably make a pest of herself, but she's a nice child."

Miss Buff Turner had glided her slim presence firmly to Daphne. Despite the ten years' difference in their ages, they had become close friends in this one week.

It was Buff who'd said, "You'll have to get a car, living up on Woodbine Hill. I know where you can get a station wagon cheap."

So Daphne had bought the station wagon which was doing sixty up the long hill on the crest of which stood her worldly domain. She drove past the few sparsely placed houses of her neighborhood, and pulled up on the side of the road opposite her house, the better to get a long view of it.

After a week she was beginning to see it with a coat of gleaming white where now it was a dusty mustard; to see it with a copper

NER REPORT

Members of this column, during about what to the "Bull Pen," the attack of spring, the March 1st ends, for Bucks County Improvement Association, for each of the in Bucks County on 600 cows must be showing totals for terfat produced as expenses and profland. These records are then reporton for certain staes in the Department. On top of this there income tax reer the time being the postponed. Hereafter ers see fit to print it, it appear more often ularly with contribuarts of the county. summary affords ing information some be reported in later is tabulated and be. There is always to see who will have which breed will county for the year, ave the best bulls, ot only interesting but members, and memImprovement Assomoming a coveted honwaiting list. Those late entering testing e William Greenaagent, as soon as pos. the country in the ars dairy production a due to scarcity of d weather conditions, been true in Bucks in the face of this a eds have made better ver before and some in the association have farmers throughout it up and take notice. this downward trend oming the first dairy e state. To illustrate ble this has been, in February when progenerally down, in one groups, allowing for oduction was up 20 the months of May in 44 when milk usually t due to pasture.

Perhaps the most remarkable story of the month concerns the Holstein herd of Linfred C. Benner of Middletown Township. Mr. Benner has in his herd two animals who are turning in records equalled by very few cows in the history of Bucks County. Very few cows make 100 pounds of butterfat in a month, but in his herd two full sisters who for two successive months have made over this phenomenal goal. Colantha Ormsby Janet made 140.6 pounds of butterfat in March and 163.8 pounds in April, on top of 97.7 pounds for 24 days on test in February. Her younger sister Jane Piepe Sensation made 102.1 pounds in March and 112.7 in April. Janet on the first day of April completed eight straight days milking over 100 pounds and was tested and rechecked under the most careful supervision, while the other cow is milking almost this amount.

This record has an interesting background dating back several years, when Mr. Benner went up into Tioga County to purchase some heifers. Near Mansfield, on one farm way back in the country, he happened to see a heifer whose appearance he liked, and offered to buy her. The owner, however, was reluctant but finally agreed if Benner would also take the old black cow who only had bull calves. So for about $300 he secured the cows. The heifer which he liked only made a fair record, but the old black cow proceeded to milk her head off, and instead of having bull calves, proceeded to have five straight heifers of which the two cows mentioned above are the oldest. A third full sister, for the past two months has averaged over 80 pounds of butterfat, and within a month or two two more full sisters should be milking. The sire of these cows is Greenwood Dean Ormsby Judge bred by Joseph O. Canby of Hulmeville, whose Dean of the Pearls bull sold for $7700 at his dispersal two years ago, with records like this it is no wonder that buyers from as far away as Canada have come down to visit from Bucks County are expected to bring good prices at the Guernsey consignment sales to be held soon. Russell Smith, of Wycombe, is sending a promising young bull out of one of his best cows, while William Clark of Lahaska and Alvin Worthington of Newtown are sending some top flight heifers. Mr. Worthington's entries are closely related to the famous Mixer Hardwick.

In private sales, too, many good Guernsey cows have changed hands. Philip Smith, of New Hope, has sold one of his famous Evergreen cows for $1500, and James and Eastburn Smith have sold five good animals for dairy purposes. Philip and Eastburn Smith also recently purchased a bull calf from Gardenville Dairies and had scarcely decided upon it when they bought another calf out of the top index Guernsey bull in the country. This newcomer is closely related to the bull which helped to make Philip Smith's herd famous, and comes from Arlington, Vt. His new owner, Eastburn Smith, is going places; and the herd at Maple Knoll Farm is one which will bear watching.

All of this activity among Guernsey breeders naturally necessitates expansion so it is not surprising to find Clarence and Harrison Myers building an addition to their barn and expect to increase the size of the herd to 45. Harry Smith, of Doylestown, is also enlarging his facilities and recently purchased 25 animals at the Brandywine Manor dispersal.

Invitation to Commit Suicide

This invitation has been delivered in every language, to every country in the world. It is not always signed by A. Hitler. If it were, you would reject it instantly, of course.

BUT IT COMES in whispers across a luncheon table. In conversation among your friends. You hear it, you read it, and God help you, you repeat it . . . and still you have no conception of the harm you've done your country, and yourself.

"Look out for the Protestants." "Hate the Catholics." "Attack the Jews." It goes farther. "The workers are loafing." "Capital is profiteering." "The Negro is rebelling." "Refugees are taking the best jobs." "The farmers are trying to rob you."

Can't you hear Hitler laughing? The more Americans fighting each other at home, the fewer he will have to meet on the field of battle.

The more energy we waste hating each other, the less strength we'll have to deal the killing blow to our real enemy.

You can see how this happens in far away countries. You condemn it. You resent it on behalf of the nations and the innocent people it has destroyed.

But . . . the point is, are you keen enough to recognize it here in America . . . in your own intimate circle? Are you smart enough to reject this invitation? Are you patriotic enough to see that your family, your neighbors, the people you work with, reject it too?

If you do this . . . and not unless you do . . . then you will help America rise to its full stature as a nation fighting for the rights of all humanity. You will help to win this war, just as though you fought in uniform with a bayonet in your hand.

Be American!

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—

Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers receive nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the kidneys take their proper share of the waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Do You Remember When...

All business people were polite and accommodating?

An effort was made to give you what you wanted when you wanted it?

The Dry Cleaners cleaned everything that YOU wanted to send?

You didn't have to carry your clothes to the cleaner but had call for and delivery service?

You didn't have to wait but 3 or 4 days for their return?

You could send your best and know that it would receive the attention and care that it deserved?

A satisfied customer was something to strive for and be proud of?

Well, those days have not gone by, as you will see when you call or come in to...

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a writ of Levari Facias to me directed, will be sold at public sale, on Friday, the 4th day of May, 1945, at 11 o'clock A. M. (E. W. T.) at the Sheriff's Office, in the Borough of Doylestown, Bucks County, Pa., the following real estate, to wit:

All that certain messuage and lot of land, situated in the Second Ward of the Borough of Bristol, in the County of Bucks and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, viz:

Beginning in the easterly side of Pond street ninety-three feet north-easterly from the east corner of Penn and Pond Streets, thence along Pond Street northeasterly seven feet to a corner of a twenty-foot wide alley, thence by the line of said alley, southeasterly about fifty-one feet to a corner of land now or late of Eleanor Guyon, thence by the same southeasterly at right angles to Penn Street seventeen feet to a corner of land of Lewis C. Spring, formerly of Dennis McBride, thence by the same northeasterly, passing through the partition between the house on this side and that on the adjoining lot, about fifty feet and ten inches to the place of beginning.

Being the same premises which Albanus S. Groon and wife, by their indenture bearing date the Thirtieth day of December, A. D. 1903, and duly recorded in the Office for the Recording of Deeds, at Doylestown, in and for the County of Bucks, in Deed Book No. 311, page 558, &c., granted and conveyed unto the said Rosanna Margerum, wife of the said George H. Margerum, in fee simple.

The improvements are a 2½ story frame house 14x26 feet with a one story frame shed attached 12x14 feet containing 2 rooms and shed on the first floor, 2 rooms on the second floor.

Seized and taken in execution as the property of Gabriel Schlessner, John Schlessner, Ehrigott W. Gebhardt, John S. Gebhardt and Gustav H. Roebhardt, heirs at law of Rosanna Hibbs, formerly Rosanna Margerum, now deceased, who was the Mortgagor, real owners of the land charged, there being no tenant in possession, and to be sold by

FRANCIS G. MYER, Sheriff.

HOWARD J. JAMES, Attorney.

Sheriff's Office, Doylestown, Pa., April 10th, 1945.

NOTICE

To the General Public, and to Victor Kohanski, his heirs, executors, administrators, or to any relatives, heirs or assigns and to all persons who have or claim to have any right, title or interest in the lots of land described as follows:

All those certain lots of land being lots 16, 17, 18, Section 1, Croydon Park, situated in the Township of Bristol, County of Bucks and State of Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, the County Commissioners of Bucks County are the owners of the above-mentioned lots of land by virtue of certain County Treasurer's sales for delinquent taxes authorized by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, purchased by claim at a County Treasurer's Sale for Delinquent Taxes held January 22, 1940.

WHEREAS, the said County Commissioners are authorized by Act of Assembly of 1933, May 25, P. L. 1013, Sec. 1, as amended 1935, July 18, P. L. 1168, No. 378, Sec. 1, and other Acts of Assembly, to sell at private sale lands purchased by them in the aforesaid manner upon petition of the Common Pleas Court and approval by it on a date set for hearing after ten days notice thereof given by publication, etc., and

WHEREAS, the said County Commissioners have presented a Petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County in accordance with the Act of Assembly mentioned, praying the said Court to set a time for hearing and later allow them, the said County Commissioners, to make and deliver unto the said Angela D. Renzo, a County Commissioner's Deed for the proper conveying of said lots to him.

Therefore you and each of you are hereby notified that the said Court has fixed the time for the hearing on the said Petition for May 19th, 1945, in the Court House at Doylestown, at 10 o'clock A. M. E. S. T., and you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why the said Court should not grant the prayer contained in said Petition.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

America and her "Underground"

We were sitting around after chores the other night talking about the progress of the war. Chad Davis was saying how, in spite of Germany's defeat, there was still the German underground to cope with.

"I don't worry about them," says Sober Hoskins. "So long as we got our own underground in working order."

"What do you mean—our underground?" says Chad. And Sober points out to the fields. "There it is," he says, "under that soil lies the most important weapon that we've got. American crops—from American fields—strengthening our position overseas in a way no other underground can shake."

From where I sit, Chad's absolutely right. Whether it's for the glass of beer that cheers a tired soldier's spirits, or the bread that feeds our armies and our allies, every bit of grain that American farmers harvest is a part of America's great strength.

KISH'S SINGLE SCORES

Tilt Was A Hurler's Match
Between Purcell and Hansen

FALLSINGTON, Apr. 19.—Falls Township won its opening game of the Lower Bucks County League yesterday afternoon, nosing out the Bensalem Township high school, 4-3, on the local field.

Andy Kish's single to left field scored the winning run in the sixth frame. Roy Ellis had drawn a walk and had stolen second base when Kish came through with his winning base knock.

The tilt was a hurler's match between C. Purcell and Jack Hansen with the former giving Bensalem but four scattered hits. Hansen struck out eight batters and was nipped for six hits.

Final Phases of Battle For Europe Apparent

U. S. First Army, said the remnants of Hitler's forces were reported moving into the "national redoubt" in the southern mountains where the Nazis apparently intend to make good their threat to make a suicidal last stand.

But military observers, Miss Carson said, still differ in their opinion of what the Reichsfuehrer will do with his loyal SS troops southeast of Vienna and the German forces in Italy.

The discussion is centering around whether Hitler will pull them into the redoubt or leave them in the field for last stand rearward fighting. The First U. S. Army completed the encirclement of Leipzig where a German garrison of some 40,000 men was offering bitter resistance with a handful of tanks and heavy artillery fire.

The U. S. Third Army continued pressure against the German lines in the Chemnitz area but the situation inside the city where the Germans were holding on grimly was reported unchanged.

Far to the north the British Second Army raced to the west banks of the lower Elbe in a drive which threatens the great Nazi port of Hamburg with encirclement.

Prisoners taken by the U. S. Third Army since August 1 have passed the half-million mark. The Third Army's bag of prisoners is approximately one-fourth of the two million prisoners taken on the western front by combined Allied armies since D-Day.

In the south fanatic Germans fighting inside the Nazi shrine of Nuremberg bitterly contested every foot gained by the U. S. Seventh Army. Three sections of the surrounded city were in flames.

SCRANTON — (INS) — The Anthracite Institute has reported a 15.1 per cent drop in hard coal production in 1945 up to April 7 when compared with a similar period in 1944. During the 13 weeks of this year, 14,233,153 tons of anthracite were produced or 2,528,940 less than a year ago.

STATE COLLEGE — (INS) — Approximately 200 Four-H Clubs in Pennsylvania were preparing special religious programs for May 6 when Rural Life Sunday will be observed throughout the nation.

FAIR OAKS — (INS) — Members of the local volunteer fire department deliberately set a fire and then stood by, their faces wreathed in smiles, as smoke curled upward. They were burning a mortgage on equipment.

Packages Damaged Due To Incorrect Packing

In a recent U. S. postal bulletin attention of the public is called to the fact that thousands of parcels arrive at ports of embarkation in damaged condition, and caution is urged in preparing packages for overseas mailing.

Among the factors contributing to the damage are listed the following: use of corrugated shipping containers too light and brittle to carry contents safely; outer wrapping paper too thin; insufficient cord to withstand strain; insufficient and improper packing of breakable articles such as bottles of having lotions and jars of preserves, which when broken the contents cause the outer container to disintegrate; loose packing of articles with sharp edges and corners thereby allowing movement of articles within container and resulting often in outer wrappings being punctured.

It is also stated that sending of perishable matter is prohibited.

HOUSE PAINT
stays white!

Painting is essential today

These days, "make it last" is as important as "make it beautiful." That's why, when you paint, it's a good idea to get the best paint you can buy. Du Pont House Paint, for instance, Du Pont House Paint forms a beautiful, durable film—and guards the surface against rot, rust, decay.

Starts white—stays white

Moreover, Du Pont House Paint contains the whitest pigment known. Titanium dioxide—whiter than snow. So your house will start whitest-of-white, and stay that way. That's because...

It's self-cleaning

All paints collect dirt on exposure. But, with Du Pont House Paint, "self-cleaning" starts after a few months of normal weather conditions. A fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this away, carrying the dirt with it—leaving the newly exposed surface clean and white again! (Unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions in extremely sooty industrial communities may, of course, delay this process.) Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Despite this remarkable quality of Du Pont House Paint, it costs no more than other good paints.

► We will be glad to recommend a reliable painter. He knows how to do the job right, how much or how little paint to use. His skill means savings for you—and paint conservation for America.
